LABOR DAY RACES AT FERNIE

The big feature of the day was the ten-mile marathon which attracted runners from all parts of the country, going as far as Portland, Ore. Although there were fifteen entries, only five faced the starter, J. W. Skilling, on account of adverse weather conditions. The course was originally to be over nine miles of road and then the last mile to be run on the track in the city park. However, the condition of the track would not permit it so the course was measured exactly ten miles from the grand stand making the starting point just about a quarter of a mile west of the Morrissey town site station. A. Fournier, of Bellevue, Alberta, proved the fastest of the five entries, running the course in 63 minutes, 45 seconds, 300 yards after the race started Fournier was in the lead and from then on never lost that position. Fournier had won a five-mile road race in Bellevue that morning and then journeyed here by car to compete in the Fernie race. He won the race in Bellevue over a muddy course and in pouring rain in 27 minutes, 37 seconds. At the five-mile post in the Fernie race his time was exactly 27 minutes flat. At the seven-mile post his time was 37 minutes, 15 seconds, but the grind of both races were going against him, although he was never in serious danger of being overhauled. Fournier is a well-known Welsh runner holding several cups denoting Welsh championships.

The fourth man was A. Libergal another entry from Bellevue. Libergal was another experienced runner having placed twelfth in the Miles Marathon between New York and Los Angeles in 1927. Under condition was probably the greatest cause for his slump although at no time was he less than a quarter of a mile behind the third man. From the starting point to the five-mile post he was running second but was overhauled by Wildman and Bartruff.

Considering the course the time was fast, the first three miles being up a steep grade, although the runners were helped a little by having about a mile down hill. The course was muddy, making the grind that much harder. To the winner goes the Fernie Garage Cup to be held for a year with an individual cup for himself, also a one hundred dollar watch. The second and third men each received watches. The Fernie Garage Cup will be competed for each year and if won three successive years will become the property of the winner. An individual cup will be given each year.—Fernie Free Press

Tom Whittingham, of the Vulcan Advocate, stopped off at Blairmore Sunday, enroute to his old stamping ground at Kimberley, B.C. He was accompanied by Albert Mutz.

An ideal day favored the sports at Bellevue on Wednesday afternoon when a splendid programme of races, etc., was carried out. A half holiday was observed by the schools, affording the pupils an opportunity of taking part in the many events. This sports programme had to be postponed from Labor Day on account of the inclement weather.

GAME REGULATIONS TO BE RIGIDLY ENFORCED

Drastic action will be taken by the A.P.P. when the duck-shooting season begins against all and sundry who do not strictly observe the game regulations. Members of the force have been instructed by Commissioner Bryan to prosecute rigidly all infractions of the Game Act. They will receive assistance for the detection and prosecution of offenders from a specially detailed squad of plain clothes men.

The calendar date for the opening of the duck-shooting is September 15. As the 15th this year falls on a Sunday, the season will not open on that day, inasmuch as Sunday shooting is illegal, but one hour before sunrise on September 16.

Such offences as shooting on Sunday, exceeding the bag limit, not having the necessary license, shooting during the hours of night, will be rigorously dealt with.

Commissioner Bryan has made the following statement:

"We are doing everything we can to enforce the laws and protect the game, but if we are to make a success of it, we must have the co-operation of every real sportsman in the province. If a man is a real sportsman and has the future of his sport at heart, he will report any breaches of the Game Act which he observes. It is only with such co-operation that the Game Act can be made useful. Sportsmen want these protective measures and they should co-operate in putting them into effect."

The bag for ducks is limited to 30 per day and 200 per season. For geese the bag is limited to 15 a day. There will be a closed season on prairie chicken south of Red Deer River. North of this the shooting season will be limited to two weeks, from October 1 to 15. The season for Hungarian partridge opens October 1 and

Jack and Jill

Cushion Sole Shoes
for Children

BY THIS Jack and Jill method of "Visible Fitting" there is no more guesswork; the child's foot can actually be seen in the shoe, and cramping of the little toes, that grow so quickly, is avoided. Children thus fitted will not need arch supports and other appliances in later years. For never does a "Jack and Jill" shoe bind growing bones or muscles. Firmly constructed yet flexible as a glove, they allow the feet to grow unhindered. Sturdy and strong to stand the wear and tear of active youngsters, yet priced very moderately.

Making Amazing Progress

Use Of English Has Outstripped All Other Languages

The amazing growth of the English language, surpassing that of any other during the past 100 years, was illustrated by statistics compiled by a newspaper published at Zurich, Switzerland.

English was spoken by less than 20,000,000 persons in 1830, the statistics showed, while at present no less than 160,000,000 people speak it natively, while an additional 60,000,000 understand it but do not consider it their native tongue.

The newspapers said that the rate of increase far outstripped all other languages and that there is no part of the world where the language is not spoken today.

Sixty-Five Tons Destroyed By People In Bulgaria

Every man and woman between the ages of 16 and 80 was recently mobilized by the government of Bulgaria to fight an extraordinary plague of locusts which were destroying crops in the Hasovo District, of southern Bulgaria. Fire, smoke, lye and oil were successfully used in combating the pests, but more than 65 tons of the locusts were destroyed before their depredations were finally terminated.

After living eight days on berries between the God's Lake and Norway House, where they made a forced landing, R. Marshall and S. Harrison, Canadian Air Force aviators, are now recovering at Norway House. They were rescued by an air force plane recently when they had almost given up hope.

Their clothing was in tatters and they were painfully weak when found. They were on ice patrol when the motor stalled and landed on the lake, and struggled successfully the first day in an effort to make repairs. They remained near the machine and on the eighth day their frantic signals attracted another plane to their rescue."

Bliss Carman Laid To Rest In Family Plot At Fredericton, New Brunswick

The ashes of Bliss Carman, who was Canada's greatest poet, now rest in a concrete tomb at the family burial plot at Forest Hill Cemetery, Fredericton, overlooking the city where he was born.

The ashes were brought from New Canaan, Connecticut, where he died, to Fredericton, and committed to their final resting place following a memorial service arranged by the Government of New Brunswick, and attended by distinguished men and women from many parts of Canada, and the United States. One of Carman's best known poems was sung during the service at Christ Church Cathedral.

A Great Mathematician

Professors Amazed By Rapid Mental Calculation Of Young Russian Woman

The world's most marvellous woman mathematician has been discovered in the person of Nina Chaglova, 22 years old, who does in her mind, in from 20 to 20 seconds, mathematical problems which require hours of experts to do, in the ordinary way, with pencil and paper.

This wonder woman has been discovered after a wide survey, and scientists are amazed at her lightning-like mental calculations. Before a commission consisting of Professor Kozhevnikov and Professor Chizhevsky, mathematicians; Koltunsky the engineer, and Dr. Kleiser, a physician, Miss Chaglova with apparently little effort, extracted the root in the ninth degree of numbers with as many as 20 digits. Squaring and cubing numbers of 8 or 10 digits seemed no harder to her than the multiplication table to ordinary humans.

Her memory is remarkable and she can repeat, having heard them only once, long lists of words in languages she does not know. The commission pronounce this woman, of Russian birth, greater than Arago or other prodigies on record.

Expert Making Series Of Experiments To Ensure Safer Navigation

Dr. Howard T. Barnes, internationally known ice-engineering expert, was at McGill University for a few days while his experimental ship, "The Ulvira," was undergoing repairs and refitting before starting out for a series of experiments in the Bay of Fundy.

Dr. Barnes stated that he had just completed three weeks of experimental work in the detection of icebergs at night in the vicinity of Newfoundland and Labrador, doing considerable photographic work for further experimental study in the laboratories at McGill.

To develop methods of making the icebergs visible at night is the objective of Dr. Barnes' present investigations. If he is successful, ships will be able to proceed at full speed either in darkness or fog in the vicinity of icebergs without danger of collision. This he hopes will make the St. Lawrence route to Europe even safer than at present.

Petition For New Judicial District

Very Necessary To The Pas Say Members Of Bar Association

Members of The Pas Bar Association will petition the provincial government to make a new judicial district there comprising all the territory north of Township 44, in Manitoba, according to a decision made at a meeting of the baristers.

It was pointed out that it was of great importance to The Pas to have a judicial district. The lawyers do not ask that a resident judge be appointed, since the amount of work is not yet sufficient to make such a course necessary, but they do feel that, in the interests of the north, a judicial district here is necessary.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

SEPTEMBER 15
TEACHING THE LAW OF GOD

Golden Text: "The opening of Thy words giveth light."—Psalm 119:130.
Lesson: Nehemiah 8:1-18.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 119: 97-104.

Explanations and Comments

The Reading Of The Law By Ezra, verses 1-8. The first day of the seventh month is the day which from the time of Alexander the Great, has been celebrated by the Jews as their New Year's Day. On this day occurred the festival known as the Feast of Trumpets, which was observed with special rites: see Lev. 23:24, 25; Num. 29:1-6. In the year 445 B.C., on this day (Neh. 7:73), the people of Jerusalem assembled on a broad place before the water gate, and Ezra, the priest and scribe, read the Book of the Law of Moses. "In Ezra the title of 'scribe' came to mean 'the man of the book.' It is evident that the scribes were the nearest originals of the clergy of later times."—Dean Stanley. Evidently to what the phrase, the Book of the Law of Moses, refers is a disputed question among scholars. The entire Pentateuch, some believe; the legislative portions only of the Pentateuch, others maintain.

Ezra stood upon a wooden platform above the people and was aided by thirteen Levites, who gave the sense, so that the people understood the Law sentence by sentence, and briefly expounded it, and then the Levites made the explanation clear to the people. Men, women, and children, old enough to understand, listened attentively to the reading from early morning until midday. On account of the heat they had their customary rest during the noon hour. To the reading the people responded with Amen, Amen (So be it), with a lifting up of the hands, evidently with the palm upward in supplication for the divine blessing, and then they bowed their heads and worshipped Jehovah with their faces to the ground.

The Effect Of The Reading Of The Law, verse 9. "By Ezra's inspiration and under his guidance the Law was now for the first time put before the Jews in a way so convincing that it was the most important thing in the world that their lives should be conducted wholly in accordance with its precepts."—A. S. Peake.

Nehemiah the governor, Ezra the priest, and the Levites said to the people: "This day is holy unto Jehovah your God: mourn not, nor weep." The day was holy because it was the day of the new moon and of the blowing of trumpets, and also because of the reading of the Law.

The People Comforted, verses 10-12. "Go your way, eat the fat, drink the sweet, and mourn not, for the Lord hath prospered all that he hath done unto you." Nehemiah used a proverbial expression meaning, "Do not fast or mourn." And sent portions unto him for whom nothing is prepared."

New Means Of Solving Crime

Creator Of Sherlock Holmes Speaks Of Impressions Of Mediums

In the well equipped police station of the future a trained clairvoyant would be part of the detective department, according to the creator of "Sherlock Holmes."

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle discussed the possibilities of a clairvoyant or a psychometrist helping in the solution of the Rothenstein mystery and other puzzling cases confronting detectives throughout the world. He envisioned a day when criminals would have to destroy everything used in carrying out crime, otherwise a psychometrist would "sense" clues and hand them to detectives.

"Although I do not think anyone could ever be convicted on the knowledge or evidence of a clairvoyant, I do believe the latter can find clues where the police fail," Sir Arthur said.

"The proper term is psychometrist, the work having nothing to do with spiritism. It is purely a matter of the medium's own latent powers."

Sir Arthur gave as an example the finding of a blood-stained knife. The psychometrist, called to the scene, would inform the detective thus:

"I have a strong impression of a man with a long black mustache, wearing a brown suit."

According to Sir Arthur, this would give the detective something to work on, as no matter how skilful the detective was, he could not have received an impression of the man's appearance from seeing the knife.

FATTY CAKE PIE

- 3 eggs.
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice.
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind.
- 1 cup sugar.
- 3 tablespoons flour.
- 1/2 teaspoon salt.
- 1 tablespoon melted butter.
- 1 1/2 cups milk.

GRAPE PRESERVES

For each pound of Concord grapes, use one-half cup of water. Wash and skin the grapes—seedling also if you can spare the time. Use sugar equal to one-half the weight of prepared fruit. Boil sugar and water ten minutes. Add the fruit, and cook until grapes are clear and the syrup thick. Then pour into hot, clean jars and seal.

Investigating New Marketing System

May Market Wheat In Europe On A Basis Of Protein Content

Dr. Robert Newton, professor of field crops at the University of Alberta, has been asked by the National Research Council of Canada to make an investigation of the possible reception which would be given in Europe to a system of marketing wheat on a basis of protein content. The report will be prepared for the next session of parliament.

Suggestion that such an investigation be undertaken was made by the agricultural committee of the House of Commons last session. The announcement that the work would be done by Dr. H. M. Tory, at a session of a committee of the research council here.

The report of grading of wheat by protein content, published by the research council for the committee, was approved.

The Singing Fool

By HUBERT DAIL
Copyright, 1922, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

Al Stone, the singing waiter and song writer at Blackie Joe's New York night club, is discovered by Marcus, the famous Broadway revue producer. Al insists on helping Molly, the ballad singer at Blackie's, because he loves her. Molly marries him, not loving him, and he pulls her up the ladder of fame. Meanwhile, Grace, the cigarette girl at Blackie's, who loved Al without his knowing it, is left behind. Molly discovers she is to have a baby. She resists this at first, but is reconciled after little Junior arrives. But when she returns to the stage she loses interest in the child. Her romantic interest in John Perry, Al's best friend, is revived and one day she is seen riding in Molly's limousine. She also sees the man put his arm possessively about Molly.

CHAPTER XII

Night on Broadway. The richly dressed limousine crowds had left the theatres and were pouring into the fashionable night clubs. The electric signs on the night club billboards beamed, and beckoned. "Here," they seemed to say, "you may find success from care, here you may eat, drink and be merry until dawn—if you have the price!"

Brightest among those indolently beckoning lights was the brilliant sign of the CLUB BOMBO, where Al Stone was part owner and master of ceremonies. What a contrast to the shabby old place where he had once worked—Blackie Joe's. Al often thought of it. And what a contrast between the job he now held and his old one. Once he had been a mere singing waiter, eager for the tips that the none too affluent patrons of Blackie's place threw him when they happened to like his comic songs and his ad lib wise-cracking. Now he was using his fame as Broadway's foremost song writer to pull the shekels into his pocket at the Club Bombo. He was the magnet, the favorite of the big-time crowds, they called him the "Singing Fool" because he could put his songs over with such emotional intensity.

The ballroom of Al's club was expensive and spacious, designed to hold the huge crowds that flocked there. The tables spread across the room in army of round white tops, with a small cleared space in the middle for the cabaret performers and for dancing. One of the best jazz orchestras in the land furnished music from a raised platform at one side.

"You bet it does!" cried Molly vehemently, and almost bitterly. "If I didn't think so I would never have let you come near me."

John Perry smiled. He knew the cool, calculating, ambitious Molly was mad about him. But he was mad about her, too. At first his interest had been the lightest of heart affairs, for he was a born philanderer, but gradually the situation had changed. To his own amazement a longing for Molly possessed him; now, he found himself willing to dare anything to get her. Suddenly she turned to him and said gravely, "What about my baby—what about Junior?"

But Perry had no answer to that; he merely shrugged his shoulders. He wanted Molly to himself, without any entanglements. Molly gave a tired smile and fixed her gaze on the broad back of the chauffeur, just ahead. How much did that man know of her interest in John?

Her unspoken words were cut short as Perry's arm went around her, and she felt herself drawn reluctantly toward him. In the dark compartment of the limousine her lips were pressed hard against his mouth; his arms were around her like a vise. She forced Al and Junior, forgot her ambitions, forgot everything but the passionate embrace of the man who held her. She relaxed for a thrilling moment and smiled into the eyes only a few inches from her own. Then she pulled herself abruptly away, for the car was approaching the Club Bombo.

"Ladies and gentlemen"—his voice came clear and resonant—"we're all here and I want you to have a good time. Forget the outside things and be happy. But before the show starts I want you to know a few of the celebrities we have present. Here's Dolores Costello, the famous motion picture star; there's Jack Barrymore, who needs no bush. At the right you will see Mayor Walker of our great city."

Finally Al's glance rested on a vacant table that was rather conspicuously placed. This was the special table that he always kept the reserved sign on, the table belonging to Molly and himself. Now he saw a couple's spot before it and pined with the head-waiter to let them have it. He moved across the room quickly.

"Sorry, folks," he said, with polite regret, "but this table is always reserved. We'll find you one just as good—don't worry. Hereinafter, see that the lady and gentleman are well seated."

Al gave the waiter a friendly clap on the shoulder and turned away. But when the couple had gone he glanced back toward the table, gazing at it with tender speculation. This was Molly's table and, in a moment, she would be here to occupy it. It must be held inviolate.

This table was somewhat different from the others; it was more tastefully arranged and the flowers on it had been specially selected and placed by Al himself. He was not quite satisfied with them, so he began to rearrange them, forgetting his crowd entirely. Then he produced a jeweler's box from his inside coat pocket and slipped it under Molly's napkin. Attached to it was a card which read—"To my darling wife—on her anniversary and mine."

"This done, Al looked up, smiling happily, and glanced at his watch. She should be here by now."

At that moment Molly and John Perry were comfortably ensconced in her blue limousine, proceeding with purposeful slowness toward the Club Bombo. Molly had told the chauffeur not to hurry.

She sat leaning against Perry's strong shoulder, while they conversed intimately in whispers. Perry was pleading, but Molly shook her head, without undecidedly.

"John, it's too complicated for me to solve. I love you, but—"

"But what?"

"Well, think of my position. Here I am, with all the money I can spend and all the public applause my nature craves. I'm sitting pretty, you can't deny that."

"I know all that. I've heard it a thousand times. But there's one thing you haven't got and that's important. You have no husband to love you whom you happen to love. Think it over."

Molly stared soberly straight before her, twining and untwining her small, white-gloved fingers.

"Are you falling in love with Al?" whispered the racketeer, bantering and sarcastically. "Do you like him more than me?"

Molly shrugged her shoulders impatiently. "We won't go into that—you know the truth. The point is, Al has put me over. I wouldn't be famous if it wasn't for him. I'm not—yet. I know that. That's why I've stuck to him so long. If I quit him he'll turn on me and where will I be? Just a girl who will drift back into the unknown."

"Nonsense, Molly!" exclaimed Perry. "You're a star in your own right. Besides, it's fame everything. Doesn't love count for something?"

"The World's Mine Oyster," Said Falstaff

EMPEROR OF

SIAMANESE DANCING GIRL

Why, then the world's mine oyster, which I with sword will open," said a famous character of Shakespeare, but the modern version reads to going around the world in a big and comfortable steamship with no sword to open the oyster. These are days of peace and world travelers now planning their tours will be interested to know that one globe-trotting liner will call at ports hitherto omitted from her itinerary—ports rarely touched by cruising steamers. The "Empress of Australia," a 11,550 gross ton vessel, long a favorite with globe trotters, will sail from New York December 1, 1929, on the seventh annual Canadian Pacific World

OLD NEPTUNE COMES ABOARD
Cruise. Besides making her regular visits to the highlights of the Mediterranean to India, Japan, China, Hawaii and other fascinating places, her itinerary this time has been extended to include Athens in Greece, Peking and Bangkok in Siam, with further calls at Keelung for Taitoku, in Formosa. She will be gone 157 days, visiting 81 ports and places in 24 countries.

Athens is really three towns in one—the twisted lanes of the Athens that was little more than a Turkish village before the Greek War of Independence, the broad straight streets of the modern capital and the interesting ruins clustering round the Acropolis representing "the Glory that was Greece." The Parthenon, one of the most interesting ruins here, was chief among the buildings with which Pericles adorned the Acropolis about 500 B.C.

Bangkok, the capital of Siam, was originally built on floating pontoons or piles on the river's edge, but nowadays well-planned roads and streets radiate from the city in all directions, beautiful Buddhist temples are scattered all over the town, and the Royal Palace is one of the show places of Bangkok.

Keelung, the chief port of the island of Formosa, is a hive of industry. Formosa is half the size of Ireland and is governed by the Japanese. In its northern fastnesses, still largely unexplored, lived the bandhunters. The Japanese campaign of subjugation, however, has all but wiped out these barbarous people. The seat of government at Formosa is Taitoku. Here fleets of junks, manned by coolies, transport the visitors around the town, one of the chief attractions of which is the Governor-General's garden, where the world's most beautiful tropical plants bloom in a profusion.

The little boy who stubs his toe;
It causes him much youthful woe.
He hollers and he screams with pain.
But soon he'll be all right again.
And as through this old life we go,
We grown-ups also stub our toe;
Ere long the wound is healed—and then
We do the same thing o'er again!

A beggar called at a policeman's door and asked for money. The policeman's wife answered the door. She said: "Do you know who I am?"
"No," replied the tramp.
"Well, I am a policeman's wife, and if he had been here he would have taken you."

"I believe he would," observed the tramp, "for after taking you he would take anybody."

Sir John and Lady Martin Harvey will leave England the middle of this month, sailing for Montreal, where they plan to open their Canadian season with a new repertoire. They will be in Calgary some time in November.

And This Happened at Burma

Young Lady: "It's snowing and sleeting and I'd like to buy some chafers for my tires."

Mrs. Eddy: "I'm sorry. We only keep groceries."

Young Lady: "How annoying! I thought this was a chain store."

Too Late! Too Late!

An old Scottish preacher of the fire and brimstone brigade, now almost extinct, was lecturing his flock on the effects of evil living: "Ye'll go into the fiery furnace full of flame and sulphur fumes, and ye'll suffer anguish and torture and ye'll cry aloud 'O Lord, we didna ken it would be as bad as this.' And the Lord in His infinite compassion will look down on ye and He'll say: 'Well ye ken it the noo!'"

Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Canadian prime minister, will likely make a tour of the west during October.

THE PREMIER ON RELIGION

Speaking extemporaneously and as "a fellow believer," Premier W. L. Mackenzie King a few days ago made an address before the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church at Ottawa: Among his outstanding statements was this: "If I had to sacrifice every other influence of my life, the influence of the church would be the last that I would sacrifice."

This is the second address on a religious topic which the prime minister has made within a few months. Speaking earlier in the year, at a local Presbyterian celebration at Ottawa, he said: "If we succeed, if our nation is exalted through righteousness, and if human society is permitted to enjoy the blessings of peace and other fruits of the spirit, it will not be to legislators that the credit will be mainly due. Rather will it be to the church and to its place in the community as the exponent of the teachings of Him who said, 'I am the Way, the Truth and the Life.'"

And now, for a second time, Mr. King has been discussing the influence of the church in an address before the general assembly which was punctuated with applause. At the very outset he said:

"May I express at the beginning my profound and growing conviction of the place the church and religion hold in the life of a nation and the world. The worth, influence and power of truth are growing daily. And so, too, we must broaden our conception of human service."

Mr. King, says the Ottawa Journal's report, went on to pay warm tribute to the unselfish work of those who enter the Christian ministry. Ministers in villages and small communities, he said, all too infrequently realize the far-reaching effect of their work in training young people to play their part in the life of the nation in larger centres. There, he said, what these young men and women learn in their youth blossoms forth into the vigor of their being. The premier continued:

"Behind all the thought of public men on the questions of the day lie all the influences of their private lives, and I venture to say that no influence has been as essential, as powerful or as helpful as that of the church."

SYNOPSIS

Marcus, the famous Broadway producer, heads a party of four that visits Blackie Joe's night club in downtown New York. Al Stone, Blackie's chief comedian and singing waiter, begs Molly, the billed singer, to render a love song he has just written for her. Molly is disinclined and refuses even to read the song. Al is in love with her but she tells him harshly that she will never marry a waiter. Then she leaves her dressing room and goes to the Marcus table, trying to ingratiate herself with the famous producer. Al is in despair, Grace, the cigarette girl, who loves Al and wants to see him happy, takes him what is the matter.

CHAPTER V.

"Nothing's the matter, kid," said Al, making a show of throwing off his depression. "But his smile belied his words.

Grace gazed happily up into his face. Her expression said plainly that if he would only confide in her she was sure could help him.

Slowly he studied her young, sensitive features. She was an awfully sweet kid, undoubtedly, and he liked her, but—

At that moment someone else arrived to interrupt his thoughts. Blackie, all excitement, entered the corridor, calling out:

"Get ready Al—you're on next!"

Al turned back-lustre eyes toward Blackie. Then, suddenly, a plan that had been forming vaguely in his mind ever since Molly's harsh exit, took definite shape. He drew himself up and said quietly:

"Blackie, I'm quitting tonight."

Blackie retreated a step as if he had been struck, while a little cry of amazement escaped Grace. Her hand went to her mouth in a quick gesture of apprehension. Blackie was the first to recover himself.

"Don't be a fool, Al," he said earnestly, putting a hand on the singing waiter's shoulder. "You've got a good job here and a following among the customers. You can't quit off-hand like this—why, it wouldn't be fair to me or to yourself."

Al nodded slowly. Yes, he had thought of that. But there were other things to be considered.

"You won't miss me," he suggested.

Al. "You've got lots of talent. And I simply couldn't sing a comic song tonight—it's impossible the way I feel. And Blackie—I don't want to be a waiter any more. I want to write. The waiter racket will never get me anywhere—I know it."

Al's vehemence increased as the words poured from his mouth. He saw his way clearly now—he would leave this place and never see Molly again. That was the only way to solve his problem. Suddenly his sense of reserve was lifted from him; he determined to give Blackie his complete reason.

"The only reason I've hung on here," he exclaimed passionately, "was to be near her. She's turned me down and let me down. She's the only person in the world I want, and without her—Well, you can see now why I can't stay."

"This love-triangle act at its concluding words, and his shoulders sagged hopelessly. Blackie nodded. Again his hand rested comfortingly on Al's shoulder. He could see how vitally this affected his prize singing waiter—why, the boy's whole world had been turned upside down."

"Molly—eh?"

Al's head came up at the mention of the beloved name. He nodded.

"I wrote her a song—a love song. I poured my heart into it because it was for her. I wanted her to sing it, so she'd know how I felt toward her, but you know what she did? She wouldn't even look at it; she laughed."

"I found the song sheet here on the floor where she had thrown it," Blackie said.

Al glanced down at his hand, which still held the crumpled ballad. There was nothing more for him to say now; Blackie understood at last.

If Al's explanation of his sudden decision satisfied Blackie, it produced reactions that were much more startling and complicated in little Grace. She was not only hurt because Al was hurt, but, for the first time, resentment flamed up in her toward Molly. How could Molly, who was able to put such a wealth of feeling into the rendering of a ballad, act in such an unfeeling way toward Al?

"Grace's slim white fingers pressed hard against the sides of her cigarette tray until the skin went white. A sudden wave of passionate anger toward the other girl swept over her; she wanted to turn, rush into the main room, and upbraid Molly for her heartlessness. Her eyes told Grace that Molly had let Al go to the Marcus table. She knew Molly was trying to worm her way into the good graces of the producer.

Then the anger passed as quickly as it came, while an expression of tender sadness crossed Grace's face. She realized that these admissions of Al's meant that she could never mean anything to him, never have a chance to help him. They meant that he would pass out of her life completely, perhaps within a few moments. She felt tears welling up in her eyes, but she bravely fought them down.

By this time a plan was emerging in Blackie's mind as he listened to the singing waiter's story. After all, Al was his friend as well as his star performer in the floor show, and he wanted to do him a good turn if he could.

"Why don't you read your song to Molly?" he suggested, with assumed carelessness.

"She won't listen," Al answered. "To her I'm only a waiter—a mug!"

"Then why don't you sing it to her?" continued Blackie, springing the idea. "She's over there now—she'd have to listen."

Al shook his head. "I can't sing it. It's a love song—a ballad. You know I've never been able to sing the heart-throb stuff. That's not my line. I'm a comic."

"You haven't sounded so darn comic," Blackie countered quickly. "telling us all this. How do you know you can't sing a heart song? Have you ever tried it—I mean in public?"

"No, I've never tried one on the floor," Al admitted, "but I've tried rehearsing them and I was an awful flop."

"Yes, but don't you see, this is different. You wrote this song for Molly and you feel it. If you put there and forget yourself, and sing it at her, you can make her feel it. Take a chance—they can't tell you. They can't see over your shoulders. You really feel about her. Look what you stand to win!"

Al stared into the earnest eyes of Blackie, almost convinced. Could he do it, could he put the same feeling into his singing that had possessed him when he wrote the song? If he could he might be able to touch Molly's heart, as Blackie suggested.

Little Grace watched anxiously the play of expression on Al's face. She was fairly sure Blackie was driving at before Al saw it, and she hoped desperately that he could prevail on Al to try the song. If the words touched Molly's heart at least Al would be happy, which would make Blackie happy.

"I'll do it," he said finally, with a gesture of decision. "I'll show her something better than a waiter. I'll put everything I have into that song."

Blackie wrung his hand. "Go to it, boy," he said enthusiastically. "You'd better make your entrance as soon as you can—while you're in the mood. Meanwhile, I'll see how the show's going."

When Blackie disappeared, Grace also vanished down the corridor. But as Al came out into the main room a moment later he heard his name called. "Grace slipped over to his side, looked up into his face with a forced, wistful smile and whispered:

"I'll be waiting for you, Al!"

"Will you, kid? Say, I appreciate it!"

He raised his hand, patting her lightly on the cheek, as he would have caressed a sister. He noticed that her cheek was too warm, but he thought it was merely from excitement.

As he turned nervously away, Grace raised her hand to her face, where his hand had rested for an all too brief moment. The spot was burning. She saw him move lightly across the room and approach the pianist to give him the new music. The pianist's mouth opened in astonishment at the idea of Al Stone, the comic, singing a heart song.

He thought he saw the man she loved heading for another woman. Would he put it over?

American Chemical Society Told Gasoline Could Be Made From Trees

Gasoline made from trees is announced in a report to the American Chemical Society by Dr. Jacques C. Morrell and Dr. Gustav Egloff of Chicago.

They have produced an anti-knock motor fuel from the sap in the Douglas fir. While this fuel now is in the laboratory stage, the report says it can be made in commercial quantities from present wood waste.

"The development of a practical and economic means of converting wood waste into motor fuels," says the report, "has a deeper significance than the immediately important factor of conservation. It provides a source of motor fuels for the future which is under the direct control of man."

"Our great storehouses of potential motor fuel from petroleum, coal and oil shales are heretofore from past ages, waste wood mass, and other vegetables are producible under controlled conditions."

Approximately 24 per cent. of the standing tree is converted into useful products, while 76 per cent. is wasted.

New Invention a Success

Pittsburg Has First Aluminum Street Car In World

Pittsburg has the first aluminum street car in the world. This car, as either the Pittsburgh Railway Company, or the Aluminum Company of America will say, has the formal title of the new lightweight aluminum car No. 6002.

This innovation in car building made its first trip through the Southside and Southside districts. The car is built for vision—for the passengers. It has windows without the usual paneled obstructions, and those same windows can be raised or lowered at leisure with the same ease and the same sort of gadget as an automobile's.

The vehicle was built with special attention to speed, comfort and safety. The seats are form-fitting and one can recline at ease in them. The floor is a non-skid composition. The lights are subdued, arranged so as to give their rays almost directly.

Mineral Exploration Company Will Make Headquarters At Sioux Lookout

The Northern Aerial Mineral Exploration Company have decided to make Sioux Lookout, situated on the main line of the Canadian National Railways, their headquarters for operations in the Patricia District, and they announced recently that a 200 acre camp site on the lake front has been laid out, which will be the nucleus of a modern village with all conveniences. It will contain a ways, hangars, offices, machine shops, and assay office. Sioux Lookout is the scene of much activity; engineers and scouts for the chief mining concerns are establishing headquarters at this point for the season's activities. They include the Mining Corporation, Atlas Exploration, Nipissing, Huronian Belt, and Lindsey and Connell interests.

Something In Weather Cycles

Records Show Seasons Have Practically Followed Same Curve

Looking back over weather records makes one believe, says an English writer, that there really may be something in the sun-spot theory of a ten-to-twelve year cycle of weather over Western Europe. There was a spell of hard winter in 1865, and again in 1906, a third in 1916, and so on. The summers, too, have followed more or less the same curve. But why should sun-spots affect only Western Europe? Must not the influence of the Atlantic Ocean be taken into the account?

Rebukes Cameraman

Colonel Lindbergh Did Not Like His Flashlight Method

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh delivered a lecture at San Francisco on honesty and integrity. The colonel, whose avocation to night reels is well known, was approached by a "talkie" cameraman, who had a microphone concealed under his sweater. The flyer detected the ruse and said: "That's not honest; why didn't you approach me with the microphone in plain sight? That would be the honest thing to do." He refused to talk for the "mike," because you have not been fair in this matter."

KEEP CHILDREN WELL

DURING HOT WEATHER

Every mother knows how fatal the hot summer months are to small children. Cholera infantum, diarrhoea, dysentery, colic and stomach troubles are rife at this time and often a precious little life is lost during only a few hours illness. The mother who keeps Baby's Own Tablets in the house feels safe. The occasional use of the Tablets prevent stomach and bowel troubles, or if trouble comes suddenly—as it generally does—the Tablets will bring the baby safely through. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Little Helps For This Week

"The eternal God is thy refuge and underneath are the everlasting arms."—Deut. xxxiii. 27.

What though the way be rough and steep? What though we stumble as we tread? There's joy reserved for those who weep.

The everlasting arms are kind. What matters it if sorrows come? What though the night be dark and long? The darkest cloud but hides the sun; The everlasting arms are strong.

One great purpose in all affliction is to bring us down to the "Everlasting Arms." What new strength and peace it gives us to feel them underneath us! We know that, far as we may have sunk, we cannot go any farther. Those mighty arms can not only hold us, they can lift us up. They can carry us along. Faith in the everlasting, is simply a resting on the everlasting arms. — Theodore L. Cuyler.

Canada's Day-Old Chick Industry

Number Of Chicks Sold Each Year Runs Into Millions.

The baby chick industry has grown to such an extent in Canada that the Department of Agriculture has taken action to safeguard the interests of the buyers of day-old birds. From a small beginning a few years ago the industry has already reached enormous proportions, and the number of chicks sold each year runs into the millions. The Department now provides a guarantee that a farmer buying chicks from an approved hatchery may rest assured that the stock from which the hatching eggs came conforms to a high standard of excellence, and that the hatchery in which the chicks were incubated was clean, sanitary, and well conducted.

Canadian Pacific steamer "Iman" recently brought over to Canada two fine stations belonging to the Prince of Wales, "Albion" and "Arb", and "Crusader" a Clyde, to go the royal ranch at High River, Alberta. The two horses broke their journey at the Toronto Exhibition, and later were carried across the Dominion by Canadian Pacific Express. Special accommodation was provided for them on the Minnedosa.

Rt. Hon. L. C. M. S. Amery, secretary for the Dominions in the Baldwin administration, fulfilled his wish recently when he climbed Mount Amery, 10,940-foot peak in the Rockies, to accomplish which he had travelled some six thousand miles by Canadian Pacific Express of Australia and lines to Lake Louise from England. He fought his way through blizzards and many other hardships to the top of the peak. He was accompanied by a Swiss guide, Edward Fouz, of Lake Louise.

Homestead entries in the four western provinces continue to run well ahead of last year. For the half year they number 7,129 as compared with 5,165 in the same six months period of 1924. Alberta topped the list with 4,052 filings; Saskatchewan followed with 2,281; British Columbia recorded 371 and Manitoba 325.

Britain and Canada

Canada is honored at the present time by having among its visitors three notable British statesmen, Hon. J. H. Thomas, Minister of Employment in the Ramsay MacDonald Government; Hon. Winston B. Churchill, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Mr. Amery, former Minister for the Dominions. Mr. Churchill and Mr. Amery are in Canada on holiday, but they are none the less closely studying conditions and ascertaining the sentiment of this country in regard to vital questions of Empire policy such as immigration, trade and commerce, and the possibilities of closer relationships in matters for the general advancement of both Mother Country and this Dominion.

On the other hand, Mr. Thomas' visit to Canada is made in his official capacity as Minister of Employment with the object of endeavoring to find out in what ways Canada can assist in solving the serious unemployment problem in Britain without doing injury to itself, and, having discovered, or evolved, ways and means to accomplish this object, to secure the co-operation of the Canadian Government and the Canadian people in carrying them into effect.

Fortunately, the first impression created by Mr. Thomas' mission has been removed. As the minister charged with the task of solving the unemployment problem in Britain, it was felt that Mr. Thomas was coming to Canada with the idea of developing some immigration policy whereby large numbers of British unemployed would be transferred to this Dominion. Anxious as Canada may be to have a large proportion of its incoming settlers of British birth, this Dominion is not prepared to have thousands of men dumped into the country solely because they cannot find work at home and who have no training or aptitude for life in this land. Mr. Thomas has made it abundantly clear that he has no such intention; on the contrary, Mr. Thomas declares: "It is not my aim to solve my unemployment problem by creating one for you." Unemployment and immigration are, he says, two quite separate and distinct problems and should be tackled as such.

Then what is Mr. Thomas' proposal to Canada? It is simple, clear-cut, workable, and one that should find favor with, and the sympathetic support of the people of Canada. In a word it is that our large Canadian corporations, and our people generally, should, when making purchases, buy British-made goods and articles, if such are not made in Canada, in preference to buying from any other country. He has asked the Dominion Government to give encouragement and support to such a policy. He has asked in conference with the heads of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways and asked them to follow such a policy, he has said to the officials of the Canadian Wheat Pool: "Britain is the largest purchaser of your wheat. We are your best customer, just as we are Canada's best customer. Thus, when you require machinery or other things which Canada itself does not manufacture and cannot supply, we ask you to buy from us rather than from others."

This should appeal to the people of Canada as good business. It is a self-respecting proposal for both parties to it. For example, Mr. Thomas points out that Canada imports over 16,000,000 tons of coal from the United States. He wants, and says he is going to get, some of that coal business for Britain—Canada's best customer—and thereby assist the coal mining industry of the Old Land and supply work for some of the thousands of unemployed miners there, as well as cargoes for British boats, thus providing employment for British dock hands, sailors, and all and sundry having to do with the business of shipping.

Such a policy will strike a responsive chord with the people of Western Canada, who are not particularly favourable to any policy of restrictive tariffs, or other form of restraint on trade, and who firmly believe that the proper policy for this Dominion to pursue is to offset tariff action by other countries against Canada by further reducing tariffs on British goods and thereby assisting to substitute British-made goods for those of other countries.

The success of such a policy lies largely with the individual Canadian citizen. He can make it a success by stipulating when making any purchase that, first, he must have an article made in Canada, and, if that cannot be obtained, second, that it be British-made. Importers, wholesalers, distributors, retailers, will quickly adjust their stocks to comply with the popular demand.

Leaving all sentiment aside, it is good business for the people of Canada to support and buy from their best customer. The more we buy from Britain, the more Britain can afford to buy from us.

Was Victim Of Glacier

Body Of Austrian Recovered After Eighty-Three Years

Eighty-three years ago, Norbert Matternberger, at the time 33 years old, husband of Maria, and father of Franz Otto, failed to return to his cottage, in the village of Kala, Austria, one day from the woods, where he won his living hunting game. A rescue party from the village decided he had been caught in an avalanche of ice.

Recently Matternberger came home just as he left that day in 1849. The glacier had given up its prey. Although clean shaven, according to family records, when he left, he had a two-inch beard when a party of hunters found him on the edge of the glacier. The body, clothes, and weapons were in a perfect state of preservation.

Franz Matternberger is now 88. His father was buried at Kala, while grandchildren and great-grandchildren mourned at his grave.

Wonderful Discovery

Of German Experts

Treatment Given To Living Trees Makes Lumber Partly Fireproof

A thin mineral soup, fed to living trees to make their wood partly fireproof after it has been cut and made into boards, has been invented by experts of the College of Forestry, at Tharandt, Germany. The process is a modification of one invented some time ago to dye the wood of a living tree to any desired colour. For this purpose solutions of the desired dyes were placed in holes bored in the tree close to the ground. As the sap rose the dye went with it, gradually colouring the wood. In the new fireproofing process, the dye solution is replaced by a bowl of the new "soup" containing compounds of silicon and fluorine and other chemical elements, so arranged that the solution flows little by little into a hole bored in the tree trunk. As with the dye solution, these chemicals are absorbed slowly by the tree and carried up by the rising sap into every fibre of the wood. The solution is so diluted to damage the living cells of the tree. Instead, its chemicals are gradually converted into mineral deposits throughout the wood, such as happens in the course of millions of years to wood buried in mineralized ground and slowly turned into stony fossil. To carry this mineralizing process too far in the trees intended for lumber is unwise, since the mineral deposits make the wood harder to saw. The German experts claim to have succeeded, however, in mineralizing trees just enough to make their wood almost fireproof without destroying its properties as wood.

Everyone In Japan Compelled To Carry Identification Disc

"Where's your identification disc?" In the near future you may be stopped by a policeman and asked this question. And if you can't produce the disc, it may mean a police court summons and a fine, says a writer in Answers. This may sound far-fetched, but a concave remarked the other day that it would be a good thing if everybody carried an identification disc of some kind, and was informed by a police officer that this was compulsory in Japan. There everyone wears such a disc around the neck from birth onwards. Apart from the convenience, in accident cases, it would also be a safeguard against loss of memory, of which there have been many instances.

GREAT BRITAIN'S FOREIGN POLICY ONE OF PEACE

Victoria.—Great Britain's foreign policy has never been one of subservience to France, but one for the preservation of peace in Europe, R. H. Winston Churchill, former chancellor of the exchequer in the Baldwin Government, declared here.

He was addressing a luncheon given in his honor, where nearly 1,000 persons greeted him enthusiastically. The gathering was sponsored by the Canadian Club and National Council of Education.

He had gathered, said Mr. Churchill, that there had been tendencies to misrepresent the foreign policy of which he spoke. Britain had ever recognized, he recalled, that reconciliation between France and Germany was the primary objective of European diplomats and leaders. All other problems were of lesser importance. Through the treaty of Locarno the bringing of these two nations into closer comradeship had been attained.

"We have always been anxious that Germany should resume her place in the family of Europe, and that has been achieved. Not that we did that at the expense of the allies with whom we stood side by side during those long war years," he said. "Our policy in Europe has been clear, keen, and consistent."

Britain had very old and highly valued associations with Japan, he said, dealing with the policy in the east. He had always found his confidence in the government of Japan strengthened by all its conduct.

In broadening the Anglo-Japanese alliance at Washington to include the United States, the Pacific coast had been placed in a position of security that did not belie its name.

"I think you will agree the British policy in China has been successful," he declared, pointing out that a very difficult period had been passed through and consolidation was now in sight.

Reduce Running Time

Canadian National To Consider Matter Of Increasing Speed From Montreal To Vancouver

Winnipeg, Man.—Immediate consideration is being given to the matter of cutting the running time of the Canadian National trains from Montreal to Vancouver in conformity with the proposed cut of 10 hours for transcontinental trains by the Canadian Pacific, as recently announced by President Beatty, according to a statement made by Sir Henry Thornton, K.B.E., president of the Canadian National Railways, just prior to his departure for Montreal.

The president who was accompanied by Lady Thornton, left on his special train for the east. This marks the conclusion of Sir Henry's annual tour of western lines, in the course of which, he said, he had once more had occasion to note with admiration the optimism of Canadians in the west under trying circumstances.

He referred to the adverse crop conditions. While a national disaster had been narrowly averted, the morale of the westerner had not been affected. Nor had the faith of the Canadian National in the west, he added, stating that the plans for expansion which had been in progress would be continued while new ones were being considered.

The Pass, Man.—The heirs of the late Capt. William Beech, pioneer homesteader at Fort Churchill, accompanied by their solicitors, have arrived from the Hudson Bay port. The party had gone north to obtain an expert valuation of the property, which is now the subject of exchequer court proceedings.

Nothing was divulged in regard to the valuation placed on the 2000 odd acres held by the Beech family at Churchill.

The case will come before a court hearing in Winnipeg about the end of the month.

Big Aviation Event

Important Race For Aviators May Be Held In Canada

Toronto.—The rapid development of air navigation in Canada during the past few years promises to culminate in an aviation event in this country which, it is expected here, will rival in importance the race for the Schneider cup, now the international classic of Europe.

In view of the fact, as a result of the training received in the war, Canada numbers a considerable body of expert air navigators, and in view of the inevitable tendency towards international air meets, C. O. Stillman, president of the Imperial Oil Company, has made an informal announcement to the effect that his company contemplates a contribution of $50,000 for the purpose of promoting an international race to be called "The Imperial Air Derby." This race will begin at some prominent flying centre in the United States, and end at a Canadian field, on some date next year to be announced.

The amount suggested as prizes is said to be far in excess of any inducement yet offered on this continent for an air race, and it is bound to attract the premier pilots and the most modern machines not only of Canada and the United States, but of other countries.

Western Air Mail

Service Expected To Commence About October First

Ottawa.—Inauguration of 1,200 miles of air mail service on the prairies is expected about Oct. 1, the day Winnipeg with Calgary, Alberta, and thereby saving a day's time between the two points. G. Herring, chief superintendent of the Dominion Air Mail Service, is now in the west making arrangements with the Western Canada Airways Company, of Winnipeg, while Hon. P. J. Veniot, postmaster-general, plans to go to Winnipeg to officiate at the formal opening of the service.

There are two routes planned for daily service. The first, to be operated by the postmaster-general's department, the one from Winnipeg via Regina, Moose Jaw, Calgary and Canmore, and the other from Regina via Saskatoon and North Battleford to Edmonton.

Next year, it is expected, the air mail service will likely be established across the Rockies to the Pacific Coast, giving practically a Dominion-wide air mail service from Vancouver in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the arrival of ships from Europe.

Canada's National Parks

American Visitor Thinks Parks Of British Columbia Ahead Of Those In United States

Washington.—A trip through the Canadian Rocky Mountain National Park has convinced Mayor Ralph Bauer, of Lynn, Mass., that the management and upkeep of the British Columbia park is far ahead of the American National Parks, which he has also toured. He has written a letter to Senator David L. Walsh, to this effect, and the senator has asked the national park service to investigate.

Mayor Bauer stated that the Canadian roads were better made, and wider and wider than those in the United States. He was no charge for admittance and the whole reservation seemed to be run for the people to whom it belongs rather than for concessionaires "in an effort to bleed the people to the last dollar possible."

Milk Shortage In Ontario

Toronto, Ont.—Dry weather may bring a milk shortage in Ontario, according to George H. Barr, provincial dairying director. Toronto milk dealers have announced an advance in price of one cent a quart. British Settlers For Coast Province

$400,000,000 Is Received For Purpose Of Facilitating Plan

London, Eng.—The required sum of $400,000,000 for the establishment of the Empire Development Corporation is assured, according to an assertion by Dr. C. T. Galbraith, in London newspapers recently—an assertion that is causing much rejoicing in official quarters. Dr. Galbraith is here in connection with the movement of settlers from the Old Country to British Columbia.

Dr. Galbraith says it is proposed that the corporation should acquire 20,000,000 acres in British Columbia and settle thereon 20,000 British families.

Premier Tominé has requested Mr. Thomas to send a representative to British Columbia, he declared, "and I am only waiting the approval of the scheme by Premier MacDonald, Lord Passfield, Mr. Thomas and Premier Tominé."

"It is proposed that the governments of Britain and British Columbia should have representatives on advisory boards and that British and Canadian trades unions also will have representatives. Opportunities to co-operate would be offered to organizations carrying on empire settlement operations."

CANADA TAKES IMPORTANT STEP AT WORLD COURT

Geneva.—Canada is first among the British Dominions formally declare adhesion to the optional clause of the world court, which provides for compulsory arbitration of international disputes.

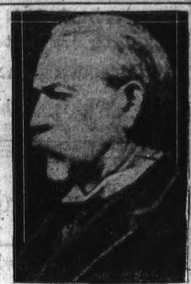

Cheers rang through the Hall of Reformation when Senator Raoul Dandurand, leader of the Canadian delegation, made this declaration, to the tenth assembly of the League of Nations. As he left the tribune, the premiers of both Great Britain and France joined with those offering congratulations.

From Senator Dandurand's statement it was clear the Canadian declaration did not come as a result of the recent discussion between delegates of the Dominions and Great Britain, or in consequence of Premier Ramsey MacDonald's similar declaration in behalf of Britain. Since the day Premier Mackenzie King, of Canada, sent the League his statement of March 10, 1925, that the Canadian Government was prepared to accept compulsory jurisdiction of the Court of International Justice in justifiable disputes, Canada has never faltered. Senator Dandurand emphasized.

Other dominions which are members of the League, likewise are preparing to make their declarations of adhesion, but there still remains the problem of reservations. In an endeavor to reach a common understanding the Dominion's representatives again met the representatives of Britain, Australia and New Zealand, both have reservations. Canada, too, may have a reservation but it is unlikely it will be made as far reaching as those out of the Antipodes.

The Irish Free State and South Africa are understood to be like New Zealand, both have reservations. Among suggested reservations is a provision that compulsory reference to the international court would not apply to disputes between units of the British Commonwealth.

Trans-Canada Telephone

Line From Halifax To Vancouver To Be In Operation Soon

Edmonton, Alberta.—Within two years a trans-Canada telephone line will be completed from Halifax to Vancouver, and Canadians will be able to talk from coast to coast over an all-Canadian wire, delegates to the ninth annual convention of the Telephone Association of Canada, were told during their five-day meeting at Jasper recently.

The line, it was explained, will cost $10,000,000. Already it is possible to talk by telephone between the different provinces, but for connection over a greater distance United States lines must be utilized.

Some 72 delegates from every telephone system in Canada attended the convention, and many phases of the telephone business were discussed.

Succeeding Hon. Vernon W. Smith, Minister of Railways and Telephones for Alberta, James Hamilton, general manager of the R. C. Telephone Company, Vancouver, was elected president of the association. Other officers chosen were: Vice-President, John E. Lowery, commissioner of the Manitoba Telephone System, Winnipeg; permanent secretary, A. M. Mitchell, auditor of the Alberta Government Telephones, Edmonton.

St. John, New Brunswick, was selected as the association's convention city for 1930.

Hon. R. B. Bennett In Ottawa

Returns To East After Five Weeks' Tour Of British Columbia

Ottawa, Ont.—Hon. R. B. Bennett, opposition leader in the House of Commons, returned to the capital from a five weeks' tour of British Columbia, in the course of which he delivered more than 60 addresses.

The conservative chief returned more impressed than ever with the achievements and potentialities of the Pacific coast provinces. He said, however, the failure of the present government to provide adequate protection was "imperiling the fruit growing districts, where, he said, the growers, unable to find home markets, were sending carloads of fruit to the United States on consignment—willing to trade any price.

Gardiner Government

Goes Down To Defeat

Remarkable Political Situation In Saskatchewan Ends With Want Of Confidence Vote

Regina.—The Liberal Government in Saskatchewan after a tenure of office of 24 years, went down to defeat on the floor of the Legislature on a vote of want of confidence. The defeat was brought about by the elected representatives of the people, Conservatives, Progressives and Independents joining together on the want of confidence vote.

The official count of the vote was Opposition, 34; Government, 27. Only one member of the House was absent when the vote was taken, namely, D. A. Hall, the Liberal member for Cumberland.

Mr. Gardiner closed the debate on the want of confidence motion for the Government, and was followed by E. S. Whitley, Progressive member for Kindersley, who made a short statement indicating the attitude of the Progressive members on the constitutional issues raised, and that they intended to support the motion.

A. C. Stewart, Independent member for Yorkton, followed Mr. Whitley, and stated that the Independent group would also vote for the amendment.

No member of the Conservative group spoke on the amendment, and at the conclusion of Mr. Stewart's speech the Speaker called for the vote.

Infantile Paralysis In East

Quebec Schools Delay Opening On Account Of Outbreak

Quebec.—Due to the outbreak of infantile paralysis in this district, it was decided by the Protestant Board of School Commissioners to postpone the opening of schools until Sept. 16. Schools in this city generally open the first week in September.

Dr. Alphonse Lessard, director of the provincial hygiene department, announced that the department was not in a position to supply convalescent serum to combat the disease, and that it was necessary to endeavor to secure a supply of the vaccine.

GOOD PROGRESS IS SHOWN IN GARNERING CROP

Ottawa.—Crop reports received from the three prairie provinces indicate excellent progress in the harvesting of the wheat crop. The bulletin issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics contains reports from the agriculture departments of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The crop is practically all out in southern Manitoba, and threshing is about 50 per cent. done in that part of the province.

A few fields still stand in the north. Splendid progress has been made with harvesting in Saskatchewan. Ninety per cent. of the wheat has been cut in Alberta, 90 per cent. of the oats and barley, and harvesting weather has been very favorable. Light frosts in scattered districts have done no harm to the Alberta crop. Estimates of the yield vary.

In Manitoba, wheat averaging from five to 25 bushels is reported. The average in Saskatchewan is nine to ten bushels.

The report for Saskatchewan follows:

Splendid progress made with harvesting operations. Wheat cutting nearly completed and about 75 per cent. of coarse grain.

From the Dominion experimental station, Swift Current: Thirty per cent. of threshing done; average nine to 10 bushels. Small amount of oats and barley threshed. Oat crop mostly will be used for sheep feed. Yields poor.

Winnipeg: Western Canada's farmers, spinning rest over the holiday week-end, sent marketing figures for Monday and Tuesday (Sept. 2 and 3), to a high total. Figures issued by Canada's two great railways showed that marketings for the two days reached a mark near 7,000,000 bushels.

On Canadian Pacific Railway lines 4,572,000 bushels were piled into bins ready for shipment, and Canadian National Railway points marketed 2,137,000 bushels. Storage at Vancouver and at the head of the lakes rose to 4,438,736 bushels and 58,020,000 bushels, respectively.

Storage in country elevators increased 7,000 bushels; and 400,000 bushels of the world's livestock, which begins on October 7, if it is found convenient for Mr. MacDonald to do so.

THE SITUATION IN PALESTINE IS MORE SERIOUS

Jerusalem.—Moslem Arabs throughout the Holy Land and the bordering states are being called upon by highly inflammatory propaganda to revolt and move against the government of Palestine.

Floods of this propaganda material were said to have emanated from Jaffa, Haifa, Egypt, Damascus, Beirut and Aleppo and have been instrumental in the smouldering of renewed discontent which some regard as potential.

One of the proclamations in circulation among the Arabs heralded a "holy war," and called upon all Arabs to help Arab insurgents in Palestine, whose condition was described in blackest terms.

Although Jerusalem was quiet, British troops continued their incessant clashes with bands of tribesmen who have penetrated the Palestine borders.

Reports persisted, despite official denials, that skirmishes with Bedouins have occurred near Beer-sheva, in which six native Christians have been killed.

Jews, who hold the first proclamation of the high commissioner, Sir John Chancellor, as aiding and abetting their cause, were not so joyful over a second proclamation by the high commissioner, which announced constitution of special courts presided over by British judges for the criminal cases against both Jews and Arabs, growing out of the recent disturbances.

London.—The situation in Palestine continues grave in communities where no troops have been sent according to advice received by the Exchange Telegraph agent at Cairo. Aeroplanes have killed five and wounded 20 at Nabulus.

At Haifa Jewish shops are still closed. The situation is calm, however, and people are resuming work. Curfew regulations are maintained and troops patrol the streets nightly.

Jews and Arabs are boycotting each other. The Anglo-Palestine Bank, which is Jewish, refused bills of credit to Arabs while Arabs are boycotting the Rutenberg electricity company and the Jewish bank.

Following the repulse of Bedouin tribesmen by the British at Safed and Samakh, 35 wounded have arrived at Haifa. Aeroplanes have repulsed Arab forces endeavoring to attack Tiberias, and Arab losses are believed to be heavy.

Would Ask For Assurance

Premier MacDonald Should Have No Political Worries When He Visits States

London, Eng.—Discussing Premier Ramsey MacDonald's statement at Geneva, that the home parliamentary situation might possibly interfere with his trip to Washington, the Liberal newspaper, the Star, suggested editorially that opposition leaders give the Premier before he leaves, firm assurance that the exigencies he fears will not arise and that when he goes to Washington it will not be as the leader of the Labor Government, but as the spokesman of the whole nation on the vital issues concerned.

Speaking of the possibility of his trip, the Premier pointed out the difficulty of the leader of a party without a clear majority being out of the country while parliament was sitting.

Returns From Arctic Trip

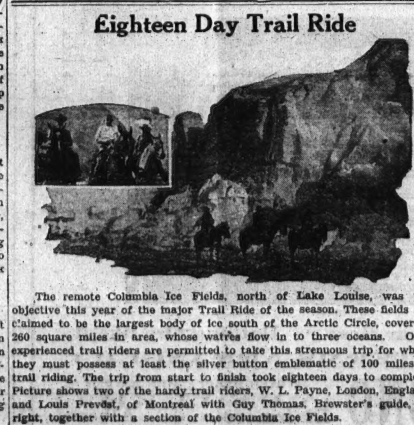

Steamer Beothic Back From Eight Thousand Mile Voyage

North Sydney, N.S.—The steamer "Beothic," back from eight thousand miles, and six weeks of threading the eastern archipelago of Canada's Arctic sea, arrived here recently. Scientists and the evidence of their discoveries in the north, welfare workers among the Eskimos, and members of the Canadian Mounted Police, back to civilization from their patrol of the world's loneliest beat, were on deck when the Department of the Interior's all-purpose supply boat docked here.

Among them is J. D. Soper, Canadian government naturalist, bringing with him to Ottawa the first blue goose ever seen by man.

Invitation For Ramsey MacDonald
